TO THE TRADE—

This Specimen Book is intended to show the appearance of various fonts set in different styles, and will also give you a slight idea of the various kinds of composition we turn out.

Please preserve this Specimen Book. It will prove of great convenience to you, and will partly eliminate the necessity of setting up samples, etc., etc.

Our business is exclusively Linotype Composition. We endeavor to give our customer's what they want and when they want it.

This plant runs night and day (three shifts) the year round, and is manned by skilled and steady workmen, the owner being mechanical superintendent.

Six years' experience in one location and under one management.

In sending "copy" to this plant the customer may rest assured that his work will receive prompt and careful attention. Small jobs are usually delivered within twenty-four hours after receiving "copy," and very often earlier. Rush work is generally put on a machine within an hour after receipt of "copy."

Special arrangements to publishers for making-up and locking-up for foundry. First class plates delivered to publishers almost as quickly as we deliver composition to printers.

Customers sending linotype work to this plant exclusively will find they receive unsurpassed service, and can always feel that they are entitled to special accommodation.

We have the most extensive assortment of faces and the best equipped plant for Linotype Composition (book and job work) in New York. Our experience covers an area extending from a letter circular to an encyclopaedia.

We can usually satisfy the most skeptical customer as regards face of type, style of composition, etc.

Five languages covered—English, French, German, Italian and Spanish.

We have as customers the largest Stationers, Printers and Publishers in the trade. References and testimonials on file too numerous to mention.

Customers will confer a favor by giving us written instructions at all times, stating size of type, measure desired, etc., whether "leaded" or "solid." All "copy" should be numbered, and edited and punctuated when possible. All general instructions covering the job should be written on separate sheet, and not on "copy." Special details for individual sheets may be written on "copy," but care should be used in order to avoid loss of time by operator. By observing the suggestions noted in this paragraph many vexatious delays and mistakes will be avoided.

All proofs are read twice before delivery to customer, but we do not guarantee proof-reading at any time.

Our own errors are cheerfully corrected without charge.

Changes from original copy, small additions, and corrections from illegible manuscript copy are charged extra as "time work" at $1.50 per hour—time to include changing of machine, etc.

Our prices are as reasonable as is consistent with good work and prompt service.

Estimates are cheerfully furnished on request—promptly.

Free delivery within Greater New York and Jersey City. All out-of-town work, F. O. B. New York.

Out-of-town customers receive prompt and careful attention. Correspondence invited.

Your patronage respectfully solicited by

WALTER B. DAVIS.

EXTRACT OF LAWS RELATING TO LABOR AND FACTORIES.

§ 94. Tenant-factories.—A tenant-factory within the meaning of the term as used in this chapter is a building, separate parts of which are occupied and used by different persons, companies or corporations, and one or more of which parts is so used as to constitute in law a factory. The owner, whether or not he is also one of the occupants, instead of the respective lessees or tenants shall be responsible for the observance of the following provisions of this article, anything in lease to the contrary notwithstanding,—namely, the provisions of sections seventy-six and punishable for the non-observance of the following provisions of this article, anything in any lease to the contrary notwithstanding,—namely, with respect to the lighting of halls and stairways; except that the lessees or tenants also shall be responsible for the observance and punishable for the non-observance of the provisions of sections seventy-nine and ninety-one within their respective holdings. The owner of every tenant-factory shall provide each separate factory therein with water closets in accordance with the provisions of section eighty-eight, and with proper and sufficient water and plumbing pipes and proper and sufficient supply of water to enable the tenant or lessee thereof to comply with all the provisions of said section. But as an alternative to providing water-closets within each factory as aforesaid, the owner may provide in public hallways or other parts of the premises used in common, where they will be at all times readily and conveniently accessible to all persons employed on the premises not provided for in accordance with section eighty-eight, separate water-closets for each sex, of sufficient number to accommodate all such persons. Such owner shall keep all water-closets located as last specified at all times provided with proper fastenings, and properly screened, lighted, ventilated, clean, sanitary and free from all obscene writing or marking. Outdoor water-closets shall only be permitted where the commissioner of labor shall decide that they are necessary or preferable, and they shall then be provided in all respects in accordance with his directions. The owner of every tenant-factory shall keep the entire building well drained and the plumbing thereof in a clean and sanitary condition; and shall keep the cellar, basement, yards, vacant rooms and spaces, and all parts and places used in common in a clean, sanitary and safe condition. and shall keep such parts thereof as may reasonably be required by the commissioner of labor properly lighted at all hours or times when said

STREETS OF GOLD.

"The streets of Dawson are paved with gold!" Two prospectors who have just returned from the frozen north confirm the dispatches which have been sent out from Alaska's municipal gem that the streets of that far northern metropolis are carpeted with yellow dust. The men are John Bigelow and H. Woolaver. Bigelow is a Denver man and has been in the north for several years hunting the precious metal, and he says that his coming back to civilization is like the entrance into a strange land.

"The feverish impatience has left Dawson," said Woolaver. "Money is plenty there, business is good and prices are reasonable. Except for the extremely cold weather you would scarcely know it from any pushing eastern town. People have given up the dreams and “Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested. That is, some books are to be read only in parts; others, to be read, but not curiously; and some few to be read wholly and with diligence and attention. Some books also may be read by deputy and extracts made of them. . . . Reading maketh a full man; conference, a ready man; and writing, an exact man. And therefore, if a man write little, he had need have a great memory; if he confer little, he had need have a present wit; and if he read little, he had need have much cunning to seem to know that he doth not. . . . THE Curfew tolls the knell of parting day,

The lowing herd winds slowly o'er the lee.
THE plowman homeward plows his weary way,
And leaves the world to darkness and to me.

BEAUTIFUL EYES. (Snyder). Soprano Solo by Ada Jones. Orchestra Accompaniment.

This girl knows the hypnotizing influence of a pair of fascinating masculine eyes, that is certain. The owner of the eyes steals her rings, spends all her money and perpetually lies to her, and while she recognizes his rascality she concludes by sighing with true feminine inconsistency, "Ah, but he had such beautiful eyes." Miss Jones has never done better than this record.

EXTRACT OF LAWS RELATING TO LABOR IN FACTORIES.

Section 81. Protection of Employees Operating Machinery.—The owner or person in charge of a factory where machinery is used, shall provide, in the discretion of the commissioner of labor, belt shifters or other mechanical contrivances for the purpose of throwing on or off belts on pulleys. Whenever practicable, all machinery shall be provided with loose pulleys. All vats, pans, saws, planers, cogs, gearing, belting, shafting, set-screws and machinery, of every description, shall be properly guarded. No person shall remove or make ineffective any safeguard around or attached to the machinery, vats or pans, while the same are in use, unless for the purpose of immediately making repairs thereto, and all such safeguards so removed shall be promptly replaced. Exhaust fans of sufficient power shall be provided for the purpose of carrying off dust from emery wheels, grind stones and other machinery creating dust; except where in the case of woodworking machinery, the commissioner of labor after first making and filing in the public records of his office a written statement of the reasons therefor shall decide that it is unnecessary for the health and welfare of the operatives. If a machine or any part thereof is in a dangerous condition or is not properly guarded, the use thereof may be prohibited by the commissioner of labor and a notice to that effect shall be attached thereto. Such notice shall not be removed until the machine is made safe and the required safeguards are provided, and in the meantime such unsafe or dangerous machinery shall not be used. When in the opinion of the commissioner of labor it is necessary, the workrooms, halls and stairs leading to the workrooms shall be properly lighted, and in cities of the first class, if deemed necessary by the

STREETS OF GOLD.

“The streets of Dawson are paved with gold.” Two prospectors who have just returned from the frozen north confirm the despatches which have been sent out from Alaska’s municipal gem that the streets of that far northern metropolis are carpeted with yellow dust. The men are John Bigelow and H. Woolaver. Bigelow is a Denver man and has been in the north for several years hunting the precious metal, and he says that his coming back to civilization is like the entrance into a strange land.

“The feverish impatience has left Dawson,” said Woolaver. “Money is plenty there, business is good and prices are reasonable. Except for the extremely cold weather you would scarcely know it from any pushing eastern town. People have given up the dreams of gold-fields and bonanzas and are settled down to the steadier routine of commerce.”

§ 94. TENANT-FACTORIES.—A tenant-factory within the meaning of the term as used in this chapter is a building, separate parts of which are occupied and used by different persons, companies or corporations, and one or more of which part is so used as to constitute in law a factory. The owner, whether or not he is also one of the occupants, instead of the respective lessees or tenants shall be responsible for the observance and punishable for the non-observance of the following provisions of this article, anything in any lease to the contrary notwithstanding,—namely the provisions of sections seventy-nine, eighty, eighty-two, eighty-three, eighty-six and ninety-one, and the provisions of section eighty-one with respect to the lighting of halls and stairways.

SUMMARY.

Summary.—Five elements go to make up a climate—earth, air, water, sunlight, and temperature. The best possible soil to insure good drainage, pure water, and the least amount of moisture to be given off to the air is sand and gravel. This constitutes almost the entire island. The configuration of the land is good, a central ridge with gradually sloping plains to the sea on one side, with boldly indented shores and an inland sea on the other.

The air is both ocean and shore, with great mobility, due to the constant daily ocean winds. The water from the wells and springs is of the purest, freer from salts and vegetable matter than that in ordinary soil or mountain regions. The water of the air has already been referred to under humidity, clouds, fogs, rain, etc., and it is not anywhere in the island excessive; in fact, over the greater portion it compares in amount favorably with some of the most celebrated coast climates.

GANGS OF THUGS TERRORIZE NEW YORK

Policemen Cowed by Bravos Must Fight Back Border Fashion or Seek More Peaceful Precinets—Genesis the Secret of the Professional Gangster's Strength.

A new day has dawned for the "gangs."

Steadily and surely these bands of hoodlums and "strong-arm" men, foot-pads and hireable bravos are fortifying and extending their operations all through New York.

As the industrious hold-up man waits in the shadows of the Elevated structure around midnight, with one watchful eye out for a lone wayfarer who "looks like coin" and the other for the superfluous copper lest he be taken unawares before his night's work is done, he hums softly.

"Hail hail! The gang's on deck,
What the hell do we care now?"

And the chorus speaks the burden of his thought.

"Pull" the Gangster's Strength.

He may be only a humble member, to go when he is bidden, and ply the black jack or the ballot at command. He never sees the inside of the back room where his fate and the fate of all his fellows is made, but he knows that away in the background are big people, who dicker with still bigger people for the delivery of votes in blocks, for the elimination of an adversary or for making some business establishment look like a western town after a cyclone.

How the Police "Get Theirs."

It is not a fortnight since a policeman who, being new to the trade, had been trying to keep the corners of his post in the lower East Side clear of the members of the local gang, told the Department he didn't care to commit suicide and asked to be moved. The Police Department has no room for a man that isn't game, but it granted the policeman's request and sent him to Harlem instead of asking him to resign for temperamental disqualification.

The memory of "Eat-Him-Up Jack McManus" who, like "Monk" Eastman was Kelly's catspaw, is still green. Nobody was ever held for his murder. Gangs-

(With SMALL CAPS and Italic.)

TO AN OLD CASE OF TYPE.

(Written for The Inland Printer.)

Once bright and shining—laid here in your “bed”
By some old “print”—old “Lightning Terry” say—
Old “Lightning Terry” with his uncombed head
Crammed full of Burns, and his eccentric way
Of getting drunk each pay-day. Fair and gay
You looked, old type, when first you made your way
In sale bill or in ad., each curly q
And shaded line brought forth great praise for you
E’en as we praise the latest “face” to-day.

I know not just how old you are, old type—
Perhaps you formed a headline screaming “WAR!”
When Sumter fell, and grim rebellion, ripe,
Started the black-mouthed guns to boom and roar;
Perhaps some unknown Greeley thundered o’er
One of your hyphens found upon the floor
Dropped by a careless “devil,” who, bereft
Of carefulness, shoved in the case and left
The hyphen lie there battered to the core.

And now you’re “junk!” There are no short &’s left,
Your “y’s” and “g’s” have broken tails, the shade
On every letter’s mashed; however deft
No printer with you could uphold his trade.
Your day is done, your part in life is played,
And to the melting-pot you’ll go; then made
All bright and shining once more you will be
E’en as the crippled child who lived with me
Has been transformed up in the heavenly glade.

—EDWARD SINGER.

The value of the property from an investment standpoint has steadily increased through the addition of new mileage and by control of other properties, whose earning power and valuation has already been thoroughly demonstrated in the pages of this prospectus.

It is not building into territory that cannot support the new mileage; on the contrary, it is covering the most fertile region in the Southwest, which in the next few years will offer more business than the roads will be able to handle. Its earnings have reflected the sound judgment on which the greater Rock Island was formed, and its future will demonstrate that the only mistake was one of narrowness rather than optimism.

It is only necessary to go back to the period when St. Paul, the Northern and other roads were building into then undeveloped and unpopulated territory of the West and creating mileage, the profits of which were all in the future, and compare the railroad operations of the early eighties with the development of the Rock Island of the present, and the character of the territory which the latter is now covering. The bonds are subject to call at any time at $\frac{1}{2}$ and accrued interest.

STREETS OF GOLD.

“The streets of Dawson are paved with gold!” Two prospectors who have just returned from the frozen north confirm the dispatches which have been sent out from Alaska’s municipal gem that the streets of that far northern metropolis are carpeted with yellow dust. The men are John Bigelow and H. Woolaver. Bigelow is a Denver man and has been in the north for several years hunting the precious metal, and he says that his coming back to civilization is like the entrance into a strange land.

“The feverish impatience has left Dawson,” said Woolaver. “Money is plenty there, business is good and prices are reasonable. Except for the extremely cold weather you would scarcely know it from any pushing Western town. People have given up the dreams and excitement and settled down to business. It is, of course, easier to get in and out of the country than formerly, and we are in closer touch with the outside world. When I first went there you were locked up in a great snow vault that had the sky for a ceiling and the mountains for walls. During the

SECOND DAY AT BRIGHTON BEACH TRACK.

Well, as we said yesterday, this is the track for consistency of form. The results proved it: 4 straight winners out of a possible 6; one third choice won, 2 second choices ran second and third respectively, both at good odds, and one third choice finished as named at good odds. Gave the contenders in every race, no shooting at the moon; 2 out of the 3 best bets won; don't this sound like our claims for the past are true? June won $622 on a $20 flat bet. Know of anybody doing better? Now we can prove every assertion we make; our selections are in printed form, no mimeograph letters; 25c. daily, $1.50 weekly—that's all. If you want to win, write us 3 p.m.

The world's gold product for 1904, according to an estimate recently issued by Mr. Roberts, Director of the United States Mint, amounts to $347,150,700, or a gain of about $25,000,000 over the figures for 1903. This constant gain in the output of gold would seem to point to the wisdom of using a larger proportion of gold, or its paper representative, as a circulating medium. Although the stock of gold held in the United States has enormously increased in recent years, but little gold is seen in actual

STREETS OF GOLD.

“The streets of Dawson are paved with gold!” Two prospectors who have just returned from the frozen north confirm the dispatches which have been sent out from Alaska’s municipal gem that the streets of that far northern metropolis are carpeted with yellow dust. The men are John Bigelow and H. Woolaver. Bigelow is a Denver man and has been in the north for several years hunting the precious metal, and he says that his coming back to civilization is like the entrance into a strange land.

“The feverish impatience has left Dawson,” said Woolaver. “Money is plenty there, business is good and prices are reasonable. Except for the extremely cold weather you would scarcely know it from any pushing Western town. People have given up the dreams and excitement and settled down to business. It is, of course, easier to get in and out of the country than formerly, and we are in closer touch with the outside world. When I first went there you were locked up in a great snow vault that had the sky for a ceiling and the

Well, as we said yesterday, this is the track for consistency of form. The results proved it: 4 straight winners out of a possible 6; one third choice won, 2 second choices ran second and third respectively, both at good odds, and one third choice finished as named at good odds. Gave the contenders in every race, no shooting at the moon; 2 out of the 3 best bets won; don't this sound like our claims for the past are true? June won $622 on a $20 flat bet. Know of anybody doing better? Now we can prove every assertion we make; our selections are in printed form, no mimeograph letters; 25c. daily, $1.50 weekly—that's all.

The world's gold product for 1904, according to an estimate recently issued by Mr. Roberts, the Director of the United States Mint, amounts to $347,150,700, or a gain of about $25,000,000 over the figures for 1903.

This constant gain in the output of gold would seem to point to the wisdom of using a larger proportion of gold, or its paper representative, as a circulating medium. Although the stock of gold held in the United States has enormously increased in recent years, but little gold is seen in actual circulation. It is no doubt true that there is a popular preference for paper as against coin. But the paper in actual hand-to-hand circulation does not consist of gold certificates, the latter not being issued in denominations below $20, but of legal-tenders, National bank notes and silver certificates, the latter apparently predominating. Of course, where large payments are made, a greater proportion of gold certificates will appear.

The use of gold coin as a circulating medium results in some loss, owing to the abrasion of the coins; and since the 'limit of tolerance' of abraded coins is a narrow one, this further tends to make gold unpopular. In communities where gold coin is more largely used than in the part of the United States west of the Mississippi River, there is perhaps less of a disposition to be on the lookout for light-weight pieces. Where the habits of the people have accustomed them to the use of paper, this form

TYPEWRITER SERIES

TYPEWRITER SERIES

This series consists of three fonts only, as shown in the following pages, and is the entire Typewriter series as cut by the Linotype Company to date.

8-Point Typewriter (practically a reduction of the 12-Point Remington Typewriter face).

12-Point Remington Typewriter.

12-Point Stenograf Typewriter (about the same as the Smith Premier No. 2).

We have many calls for the Elite (10-Point) Typewriter face, but regret to inform our customers that the Linotype Company does not carry this face, and up to the present time we have been unable to get the Company to cut this face for us, even at a special price. Hence our reason for not showing this very popular font.

Our "Imitation Typewriter" composition (with the three fonts we carry) cannot be surpassed.

Imitation Typewriter composition is being used more than ever, not only for letters, but for many reports of engineers, mining experts, accountants, etc.

CHELTENHAM SERIES

(8, 10, 12 and 14 Point)

Herewith we present the entire Cheltenham series as cut by the Linotype Company to date: 8, 10, 12 and 14 Point Cheltenham with Italic, and 8, 10 and 12 Point Cheltenham Bold Face.

The entire Bold Face series is cut on single letter matrices.

We have carried the Cheltenham and Italic series for several years, but the Bold Face is entirely new with us, this being the first time we have ever shown it in our catalog.

Cheltenham type is the most popular face of the day, especially for booklets, prospectuses, etc., as well as for periodicals pertaining to music, art, and literature.

A change from the conventional old style and roman faces will no doubt prove to be a very pleasing one to many critical customers—the ones who want “something out of the ordinary,” neat and up-to-date.

We have installed the Cheltenham series at very great expense, and are the only Linotypers in the United States to date who have placed the complete series (as cut by the Linotype Company) at the disposal of the Printing Trade.

THE WORLD'S GOLD PRODUCT for 1904, according to an estimate recently issued by Mr. ROBERTS, the Director of the United States Mint, amounts to $347,150,700, or a gain of about $25,000,000 over the figures for 1903.

This constant gain in the output of gold would seem to point to the wisdom of using a larger proportion of gold or its paper representative, as a circulating medium. Although the stock of gold held in the United States has enormously increased in recent years, but little gold is seen in actual circulation. It is no doubt true that there is a popular preference for paper as against coin. But the paper in actual hand-to-hand circulation does not consist of gold certificates, the latter not being issued in denominations below $20, but of legal-tenders, National bank notes and silver certificates, the latter apparently predominating. Of course, where large payments are made, a greater proportion of gold certificates will appear.

The use of gold coin as a circulating medium results in some loss, owing to the abrasion of the coins; and since the "limit of tolerance" of abraded coins is a narrow one, this further tends to make gold unpopular. In communities where gold coin is more largely used than in the part of the United States west of the Mississippi River, there is perhaps less of a disposition to be on the lookout for light-weight pieces. Where the habits of the people have accustomed them to the use of paper, this form of money is doubtless preferred to the coin, on the score of convenience.

But good reasons can be adduced to show that all paper money should be a title to an equal amount of the standard coin, and directly convertible into such coin. In fact, with the large supply of gold now available for monetary use, it is becoming an open question whether it would not be better to have but one kind of paper money—gold certificates. These could be issued in denominations to suit the public convenience.

Objection has been made to the use of a gold currency as being too costly; but experience seems to indicate that this is a case where the best is the cheapest. Our silver certificates are used as a reserve by both the National and State banks, though they represent dollars of a much smaller intrinsic value than gold dollars. Moreover, as pointed out by Mr. GARRELS in his admirable address before the recent convention of the American Bankers' Association, the State banks and trust companies use National bank notes as a reserve. It is also suspected that some of the National banks do the same thing.

But our banking system will approximate an ideal standard of safety only by adhering strictly to the use of gold coin or gold certificates for reserve purposes.

8-POINT CHELTENHAM BOLD FACE

The world's gold product for 1904, according to an estimate recently issued by Mr. Roberts, the Director of the United States Mint, amounts to $347,150,700, or a gain of about $25,000,000 over the figures for 1903.

This constant gain in the output of gold would seem to point to the wisdom of using a larger proportion of gold, or its paper representative, as a circulating medium. Although the stock of gold held in the United States has enormously increased in recent years, but little gold is seen in actual circulation. It is no doubt true that there is a popular preference for paper as against coin. But the paper in actual hand-to-hand circulation does not consist of gold certificates, the latter not being issued in denominations below $20, but of legal-tenders, National bank notes and silver certificates, the latter apparently predominating. Of course, where large payments are made, a greater proportion of gold certificates will appear.

The use of gold coin as a circulating medium results in some loss, owing to the abrasion of the coins; and since the "limit of tolerance" of abraded coins is a narrow one, this further tends to make gold unpopular. In communities where gold coin is more largely used than in the part of the United States west of the Mississippi River, there is perhaps less of a disposition to be on the lookout for light-weight pieces. Where the habits of the people have accustomed them to the use of paper, this form of money is doubtless preferred to the coin, on the score of convenience.

But good reasons can be adduced to show that all paper money should be a title to an equal amount of the standard coin, and directly convertible into such coin. In fact, with the large supply of gold now available for monetary use, it is becoming an open question whether it would not be better to have but one kind of paper money—gold certificates. These could be issued in denominations to suit the public convenience.

Sec. 94.—TENANT-FACTORIES.—A tenant-factory within the meaning of the term as used in this chapter is a building, separate parts of which are occupied and used by different persons, companies or corporations, and one or more of which part is so used as to constitute in law a factory. The owner, whether or not he is also one of the occupants, instead of the respective lessees or tenants, shall be responsible for the observance and punishable for the non-observance of the following provisions of this article, anything in any lease to the contrary notwithstanding,—namely the provisions of sections seventy-nine, eighty, eighty-two, eighty-three, eighty-six and ninety-one, and the provisions of section eighty-one with respect to the lighting of halls and stairways.

SUMMARY.

Summary.—Five elements go to make up a climate—earth, air, water, sunlight, and temperature. The best possible soil to insure good drainage, pure water, and the least amount of moisture to be given off to the air is sand and gravel. This constitutes almost the entire island. The configuration of the land is good, a central ridge with gradually sloping plains to the sea on one side, with boldly indented shores and an inland sea on the other.

The air is both ocean and shore, with great mobility, due to the constant daily ocean winds. The water from the wells and springs is of the purest, freer from salts and vegetable matter than that in ordinary soil or mountain regions. The water of the air has already been referred to under humidity, clouds, fogs, rain, etc., and it is not anywhere in the island excessive; in fact, over the greater portion it compares in amount favorably with some of the most celebrated coast climates.
